Embrace the Chaos:

*Riding the Latest Wave in Our Financial Markets
By The Rev. Dr. Rick Young, TPF's President*

I cannot pretend that the first quarter of 2022 was not volatile and tumultuous. Unfortunately, it presented unique challenges for investors. The Russian invasion of Ukraine, supply chain issues, interest rate increases, another COVID-19 variant, and a staggering world economy left few safe spaces for investments. Active management took a hit giving back some of the outperformance it gained over the last five years. While the last half of March showed some signs of improvement, it was not enough to erase the earlier market struggles..

As one would expect, many of us had to fight the urge to adjust portfolios, but as always, most experts advised against that course of action. They never encourage sudden adjustments based on emotion. TPF is a long-term strategic investor with a wide breadth of market experience, and we have seen these swings many times in the past. In fact, for the last few years the first quarter has been challenging for investors, but by the end of the year we all managed to enjoy a nice rebound. Our hope is that this year will be the same.

The TPF Balanced Fund ended the quarter with a -7.1% net performance for the first quarter of 2022. TPF has a time-tested process that has withstood the volatile markets throughout the past twenty years.

The TPF Balanced Fund had a -7.1% net performance for the first quarter of 2022.

That process has weathered many storms and has provided nice returns over three-, five-, and ten-year periods. The process is not stagnant but strategic and reviewed regularly. We still believe that this process will lead us in the right direction in the coming months.

TPF Legacy Builder: These Building Blocks are for YOU!

As we all race through 2022, now is a great time to take a pause and stop to focus on what is truly important to your church or nonprofit and consider how you can ensure that your mission efforts are sustained well into the future. A long-term, successful legacy giving program is critical for this effort. Especially now!

According to a study conducted by Legacy Leaders:

- $67 trillion will be transferred to Gen X and Millennial children from their parents over the next several decades.
- $6.3 trillion will be transferred through charitable bequests (fancy word for legacy or estate gifts).
- 90% of donor mortality will result in lost opportunity without efforts to generate planned giving.

So, how can we help?

TPF's Legacy Builder was created just for you! Comprised of 6 easy-to-use building blocks, this educational website is the tool you need. From the fundamentals of legacy giving to maintaining a successful program, we've got it all. Our building blocks are listed below:

- Building Block 1: Why Legacy Giving?
- Building Block 2: Getting Started
- Building Block 3: Program Materials
- Building Block 4: Digital Tools
- Building Block 5: Hosting Events
- Building Block 6: Maintenance
